

ELLIOTT'S LONG PAW SCHOLARS RECIPIENTS

Travis Laver, V.M.D., Ph.D.

Veterinary Medical Oncology Resident 2013-2016

Dr. Laver was the first Elliott's Long Paw Scholar. He began his residency at the Flint Animal Cancer Center in 2013. He received his V.M.D. from the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine. Prior to vet school, Dr. Laver completed his Ph.D. in cell biology-molecular oncology at the University of Alabama at Birmingham. Dr. Laver is currently an assistant professor of oncology at the University of Georgia College of Veterinary Medicine.

Annie Galloway, D.V.M.

Veterinary Medical Oncology Resident 2016-2019

Dr. Galloway completed her residency at the Flint Animal Cancer Center in August 2019. She is currently in private practice in Longmont, Colorado. She completed veterinary school at University of Tennessee College of Veterinary Medicine, a small animal internship at Blue Pearl Veterinary Partners in Nashville, and an oncology-specific internship at the Flint Animal Cancer Center before her three-year specialty residency.

Beck Ringdahl-Mayland, D.V.M.

Veterinary Medical Oncology Resident 2019-2022

Dr. Ringdahl-Mayland joined the Flint Animal Cancer Center in July 2019 after completing veterinary school at the University of Minnesota College of Veterinary Medicine and a one-year rotating internship at North Carolina State University. His early love of animals led him to veterinary medicine; his personal experience with two pets diagnosed with cancer led him to specialize in veterinary oncology.